DICKENSIAN FESTIVE AFTERNOON TEA

TEA SELECTION

English Breakfast
Bold, smooth and reassuringly proper, with a clear, full-bodied character to set any respectable morning to rights. The sort of brew that could rouse even the sleepiest clerk from his Christmas slumber.

Earl Grey
A distinguished classic with a bright, fragrant flourish, fit for a gentleman in his finest top hat or a lady receiving callers in her parlour. One lump or two, Mr Scrooge?

Lemongrass & Ginger
A lively little concoction, where warming spice meets a bright citrus twist. Positively restorative after a brisk winter stroll through the foggy streets of old London.

Peppermint
Fresh, minty and wonderfully brisk, with a cooling finish that clears the head and puts a spring in one's step. A welcome tonic after a particularly generous helping of Christmas cake.

Spring Green
Delicate and smooth, with a fresh, clean finish as refreshing as a quiet country morning beyond the smoke and bustle of Victorian London. A most civilised moment of calm amid the Christmas commotion.

Fruits of Eden
Invigorating and gently tangy, with a smooth, fruity finish that brings a little sunshine to the darkest December afternoon. Even the gloomiest miser might find his spirits lifting.

Malabar Chai
A rich and exotic marriage of warming spices, brimming with character and old-world charm. One could almost imagine it arriving by steamship from distant shores, ready to enliven a chilly Christmas evening.

Oolong Rose
Delicately sweet, with subtle floral notes and an elegant finish. A most romantic little infusion, fit for a secret admirer, a handwritten love letter and a parlour filled with candlelight.
